Coats, Furs and Blankets Underpriced

Isn't it cold this morning?—and the uppermost thought in people's minds the last few days has been how to keep comfortable indoors and out.

Coats, Furs, Gloves and Blankets are interesting topics just at present—the more so when prices are as low as ours.

$7.00 Blankets for $5.00.

California White Wool Blankets, 12-4 size, Blue Red and Pink borders, with wide silk binding. Good values.

$5.00 Blankets for $4.00.

Pure All-Wool Scarlet Blankets, 7x8 1/2 inches, extra thick and soft; bound with silk.

$2.50 Blankets for $2.00.

Good quality of Gray Blankets.

$3.00 Comforts for $2.50.

Lamb's Wool, covered with the best quality of Silkoline; in light colors, 7x7 1/2 inches.

Comforts for $2.50.

Large-Sized Laminated Cotton Comforts, covered with a fine quality of Satteen, and figured on both sides.

Comforts for $1.25.

Pure Cotton, filled and covered with Silkoline. Large size.

Golf Gloves for Women and Girls, 25c and 50c.

Men's Heavy Gloves 50c

Some with Mocha Fronds, Astrachan Backs and fleece-lined.

Others Mercerized goods. All warm and comfortable.

A Coat or Fur takes up very little room in one's home, and it's much more economical for you to buy one to-day at half price and get the benefit of it for the next four or five—perhaps seven or eight—weeks than it will be to buy a new one next fall.

If we ask you $2.50, $5 or $7.50 for a Coat or Fur, multiply the price by two and you'll get the real value of the article.

If "E. S." will always multiply the first remainder by 70, the second remainder by 21 and the third by 15, the sum of these products will be the number the person thought of. If the sum is less than 105, when the sum is more than 105 and less than 210, always subtract 210. The sum can never be more than 315. Any number from 1 to 105 can really be chosen instead of 1 to 105. E. C. H.

It would afford me great pleasure to try and answer a few questions that are asked about sororities, as I know a little about them, being in one myself. I should like to help any one out if I could, as I am sure they would be all willing to help myself or others out.

In the first place, to begin a sorority you generally petition a sorority for a charter—that is, you ask them to allow you to become one of their chapter. Three members are enough to begin with, but a larger number, say five or six, would be a great deal better. The letters on the pins do mean something which is very secret. It is customary to have a motto. You can start it without a chapter, and not call it a regular sorority, but it may have a Greek name. To have a regular sorority you must obtain a charter, and in order to do this you have to employ a lawyer.

I doubt very much whether this will help the perplexed girl or not, but in case they would like to learn more about it I should like very much to have you send them my address, and I would be delighted to help them as far as possible. C. D. K.

I have often wished I could get all the stories that have been told in regard to this little flower, and am so glad to get your little legend in regard to it. I hope you will not interest you, but I thought perhaps you would like to hear as many as you can. J. L.

and also your somewhat sarcastic and altogether unjust remarks, and am led to believe that you do not perfectly understand the matter of which "Sincere" writes, nor circumstances as they exist to-day, or you would not be so very unjust in your reply.

If you will allow me, I move in the so-called "middle class of society." My friends and acquaintances are men and women of good common sense and education, and yet if a gentleman were to call upon me several times in succession, or honor me with invitations to places of amusement, or even escort me from friends' houses when I happened to meet him, and others heard of it or saw us together, it would cause such remarks as these: "Wonder if they are engaged?" "Looks serious." "When's the wedding coming off?" "Has she a ring?" and similar foolish remarks. I admit the utter absurdity of it all, but, nevertheless, it exists to-day.

I number among my friends young men of upright character, who will not call upon the same young woman more than once in several months, nor will they honor her with an invitation to some amusement, only at rare times. Why? It is only when I happen to meet him, and others heard of it or saw us together, it would cause such remarks as these: "Wonder if they are engaged?" "Looks serious." "When's the wedding coming off?" "Has she a ring?" and similar foolish remarks. I admit the utter absurdity of it all, but, nevertheless, it exists to-day.

I repeat that you unwarrantably flayed "Sincere," and I also think that the young lady he mentions must desire more than his friendship if she makes it his duty to have him so close. He does right to limit his calls. It is hardly lady-like on her part.

H. N. H.

As a young man with more young women "friends" (in the true interpretation of the word) than men friends, let me thank you for your answer to "Sincere." If the little ad is sincere in anything other than his opinion of himself, his letter does not show it.

I join you in the wish to be "her brother," but five minutes would be sufficient for me, and I am convinced enough to believe that owing to his physical condition, marriage would be out of the question (for some time at least). L. S. C.

"Polygons with twenty sides" are termed dodecagons, the name being formed from two Greek words, meaning "twenty" and "sides." The name of a nineteen-sided polygon, I suppose, would be found in the same way. I have never seen it used. The Greek word for nineteen is not a simple word, but may be found in any lexicon.

(Score one touchdown for the girls if their memory for Greek is longer than mine.)

In gravity, or "blue vitriol," cell, "battery" always means two or more "cells" or "jars." The liquid is a saturated solution, and it is necessary to keep an excess of copper sulphate (blue vitriol) in the jar, so that the salts in the solution may be renewed as it is used up. So the best plan in making up a cell is to place the copper in the bottom of the clean jar, pour in the blue vitriol crystals until they are level with the top of the copper, put the zinc in place, and then add clean water until the zinc is well covered. This will leave a long-live cell. With the addition of a little water occasionally to replace that lost by evaporation, such a cell will last a year in door-bell or similar work. Of course, a great deal less vitriol may be used, but it is always necessary to have a few crystals of vitriol in the bottom of the jar.

(Score one touchdown for the boys!) It is not necessary to use sulphuric acid with a blue vitriol cell. The acid is sometimes used to start the action of the cell, and for this purpose a few drops are sufficient. An easier way is to connect the wire from the copper directly with the zinc, and let it stand thus for twenty-four hours. Better still, pour in a pint or so of liquid from the top of an old cell. A vitriol battery will start itself, but will be weak for a day or two. All of the above expedients are used solely to secure the full strength of the cell from the start.

(Score one touchdown and goal for "the boys.") Final score, 11 to 4, in favor of "the boys!" If your friend, "M. W. D." or any one else desires any information concerning things electrical, I would be very glad to have them referred to me, that I might assist them. I have access to an excellent technical library, and that line, in spite of the fact that I am still legally, at least.

ONE OF YOUR BOYS.

MARION HARLAND'S RECIPES.

Candied Orange Peel.
Cut orange peel into thin strips and lay in cold water for an hour. Make a syrup of sugar and just enough water to moisten it slightly. While this is boiling without stirring, boil the orange skins in clear water until clear and tender, laying on a towel to dry off the superfluous moisture. When the syrup threads drop and so on until the peel is fully moist, remove, drain in a colander, sprinkle with granulated sugar and spread on a platter to dry.

Oysters Au Gratin.
Drain the oysters and pat them dry between the folds of a towel. Make a thick white sauce, adding to it a little butter, and season with salt and pepper. Pour the sauce slowly two layers, and remove from the fire. In the bottom of a greased pudding dish put a layer of the oysters, pour over those the thick white sauce, put in more of the oysters, more sauce, and so on until the dish is full, having the uppermost layer of sauce. Sprinkle this with fine crumbs, dust with butter and dust lightly with salt and pepper. Bake for twenty minutes or half an hour.

COLONEL KEAN IS HERE

Former Howitzer and Staunch Democrat is Warmly Greeted.

In the lobby of Murphy's Hotel last night was Colonel William Kean, of Louisiana county. He comes to Richmond quite often, and, perhaps, there is no out-of-town man who has more friends than has Colonel Kean. He was one of the Howitzers during the war. He has been true to the South since the war. The Colonel carries sunshine wherever he goes. He is not only a Confederate who will stand up and fight the battles over again, but he is a Democrat of the rock-bottom type. He is, and for several years has been, the chairman of his party in Louisiana.

Colonel Kean is going to be at Lee Camp Hall to-night to attend the exercises incident to the presentation of General Kemper's portrait.

It is not generally known, but it is a fact, that Colonel Kean, a grizzled veteran, is a sergeant of the Howitzers. He is one of those old-young men, or young-old men, whom it is hard to locate as to age. A few years ago he was at a meeting of the Howitzers, and, buttoning up his overcoat, impressed a young Howitzer. He turned the jokes upon Major Robert Stiles, Captain Carlton McCarthy and others, and Captain Hutchinson made him a sergeant.

Whenever he goes, about the Capitol or the hotel lobbies, Colonel Kean is a warm handshake that is so characteristic of Virginia gentlemen. He is a man who loves his capital city and the people of his capital city love him.

CHARITY IN MANCHESTER

Relief Association to Be Organized This Afternoon.

A FIRE AT FOREST HILL

Damage to Detached Kitchen—Excitement for Awhile—Entertainment at Lender Hall—Verdict Reversed.

Other News Notes.

The Times-Dispatch Bureau, 150 N. 102nd Street, has a concert movement will be started at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Lender Hall looking toward the immediate relief of the suffering and needy of the city.

A relief association and city mission will be formed, like similar organizations in Richmond, and steps will be taken to alleviate the suffering now going on.

The movement was inaugurated by Hon. D. L. Toney, who, feeling that something should be done in a systematic way, yesterday morning sent invitations to many of the leading citizens, ladies and gentlemen, to meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The letter sent out by Mr. Toney is as follows: "Manchester, Va., Feb. 18, 1903. 'You are urgently requested to meet at a committee of ladies to meet at Hall on Friday evening at 4 o'clock to aid in devising ways and means by which funds may be raised to help the needy poor of this city, damaged by the recent cold weather. We are informed that there are many needy persons who may be aided by concerted action. Very respectfully, D. L. TONEY.'

Mr. Toney said last night that he knew of several very worthy cases, each one of which he had assisted so far as he could, and he felt that much good could be done by an organization like that proposed, and he hopes there will be a large attendance of interested persons this afternoon.

The hall will be well heated and comfortable.

FIRE AT FOREST HILL

A considerable wind and a number of interested neighbors prevented what might have been a disastrous fire at Forest Hill Wednesday night about 8 o'clock.

Fortunately nothing but a part of the detached kitchen at the home of Mr. W. M. Tompkins was burned, and $300 will probably cover that loss. The fire was caused by sparks from the stove in the kitchen, sleeping-room setting fire to the bedding.

The neighbors formed a bucket brigade and kept the flames down, and prevented their spread, either to the residence of Mr. Tompkins or to that of Mr. R. H. Smith, next door.

VERDICT REVERSED.

Judge Hancock, in the Circuit Court of Chesterfield, has reversed the finding of the jury in the suit of H. T. Watkins against the Seaboard Air Line for $500 for damages by the burning of a barn from sparks from an engine. The barn was burned last summer, and the case was tried about three months ago. The verdict was set aside on the grounds that it was contrary to the law and evidence.

The railroad company was represented by Messrs. E. R. Williams and Ernest H. Wells, and Mr. Watkins was represented by Messrs. J. C. Rogers and W. R. Bradley.

PLEASE ENTERTAINMENT.

Freezing weather last night held the audience down to a considerable extent last night at Lender Hall, but the performance was most pleasing and entertaining. The show started off with the "Tom Thumb Wedding," which was taken part in by a hundred little tots, who performed their parts exceedingly well to the admiration of their parents and friends.

Other features were recitations and songs, and the gypsy encampment, taken part in by the following young ladies and gentlemen:

Misses Edna Davidson, Mattie Owens, Jayne Davidson, Bertie Cole, Bettie Owens, Lella O'Brien, Rena Reams, Ethel Morrisette, May Brewer, Messrs. Archer Williams, E. C. Clements, A. Harrison, L. M. Bendall, Meredith Owens, Eddie Burton, W. J. Morrisette, Ed Phillips, Henry Beattie, Cabell Woody, Edward Lovell, Mr. Edwards, Mrs. W. R. Bradley.

Queen of the Gypsies, Miss Flora Moody, King of the Tribe, E. C. Clements, Will Zingarella, Mrs. Claudia Hazen.

The whole production was under the direction of Mrs. Claudia Hazen White. A matinee performance will be given to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, all for the benefit of Bainbridge-Street Baptist Church.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Those who graduated at the Manchester High School at the intermediate examination last closed were: Misses Mary Cousins, Ruth E. Hines, Virgie Crane, Hilda Tatum, Louise Wood, Alma Flournoy, Letcher Phillips.

ENTERTAINMENT TO-NIGHT.

At the residence of Mrs. J. T. Jewitt the Christian Band of Central Church will, to-night, give a colonial tea. Those who will take part in the musical programme will be: Mrs. R. Tupper, Mrs. Samuel Woodin, Miss Isaac, Miss E. Johnson, Mr. Ernest Taylor, Mr. Robert Childrey and Mr. H. B. Owen. The public is invited.

SMALL TALK.

Mrs. A. S. Wright, wife of Policeman Wright is ill at her residence, Fifth and Bainbridge Streets.

The wife of Policeman R. P. Smith continues ill.

The supervisors of Chesterfield county will meet at the courthouse next Monday in regular session. Nothing special is expected to come up before them.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph C. Brown took place from his home in Chesterfield county yesterday afternoon.

Charles and Farley's Merrykames will present their comedy drama "Patience" at Lender Hall to-night for the benefit of the Manchester Firemen. This combination is well known and popular in Richmond, where it has given a number of entertainments, all of which have amused large audiences.

Social and Personal

Interest in the forthcoming production of "Fedora," Victorien Sardou's drama, by the George Fawcett Company at the Richmond Academy will be stimulated by the announcement that Miss Percy Haskins will then display some very gorgeous toils.

In the first act she will be seen in a Parisian evening gown of white chiffon, with spangled black lace, with a bolero jacket of the black lace in flower design, with a belt of blue and knots of pale blue on the left shoulder and in front of bodice. The gown is trimmed in tiny gold spangles, giving it the shimmering effect of a fountain. With worn a handsome blue velvet wrap, having a broad stole of squirrel fur and heavy hand-made lace, with small bunches of grapes; also a huge muff of squirrel fur, with the same effect in lace. In her hair she will have a diamond comb and spangled tulle.

For the second act she will don a princess gown of white chiffon, with design of silver spangles and several rows of black and white chiffon around the waist. The sleeves are of simply pink straps over the shoulders and feet strands on the arms. The long pink sash starts from the shoulder at the back, the ends being heavily spangled in silver. In front is a black and white design, with streamers of black velvet falling to the bottom of the skirt. This is a most effective gown.

On the principle that the last should be best, she will appear in the third act in a white velvet gown, with bands of black fur four inches wide. The bodice is made with short jacket, fluffed with fur and dashed in front with black velvet. The skirt is of black velvet, with a belt in the back there is a large steel buckle. The skirt is slashed in front with black velvet, and there is fur around the bottom.

A Colonial Social.

A Colonial Social was given by the Literary Committee of the Epworth League in the lecture room of the First Baptist Church last night at 8:15 o'clock. The following comprised the committee: Miss Lizzie Mackie, Miss Janie Rogers, Miss Nellie Speece, Miss Carrie Mitchell, Miss Maggie Curley, Miss Maudie Wilson, Miss Mary E. Hines, Miss Eugene Blanton, Mr. L. D. Briggs, Mr. Woodville A. Page, Miss Clara Becker and Miss Edna Blanton.

The following programme was rendered: Overture, Miss Mitchell. Reading, Miss Mitchell. Song, Miss Mitchell. Reading, Miss Mitchell. Song, Miss Mitchell. Reading, Miss Mitchell. Song, Miss Mitchell.

Reception Tea.
A very pretty reception tea will be given from 5 to 7 P. M. to-day in the home of Mrs. Benjamin T. Crump, of No. 616 West Grace Street, under the auspices of the Epworth League. The following will be present: Mrs. Benjamin T. Crump, Mrs. Addison Holaday, Mrs. Lippcomb, Miss Margaret Childrey, Mrs. Simon, Mrs. A. L. Chambers, Mrs. Charles Tanner, Mrs. Trevillian, Miss Mary Frazee, Mrs. Dan McCarthy, Miss Ruth Tanner, Miss Jennie McCarthy, Miss Pauline Powers and Mrs. Lee Crump.

After the musical refreshments will be served by little Misses Louise Crump, Floyd Taylor, Daisy Boykin, Mary Day Winn, Louise Miller and Myra Chambers. The refreshments will be of red, white and blue. The tea will be informal and all who wish to go will be heartily welcomed.

Mrs. C. T. Norman entertained at cards last evening in honor of her sister, Miss Louise Cabell Loving.

Decorations were in pink, carried out in shaded candles and pink and white. Of the three prizes offered, the ladies' first was a string of coral beads, and the gentlemen's a scarf pin.

The hostess, Mrs. Norman, was given in green crepe dress, roses in red, white and blue. The tea will be informal and all who wish to go will be heartily welcomed.

A delicious and varied menu was served on the card tables after the game was over.

Children's Parties.

A children's tea in honor of Washington's birthday was given Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock in Lee Camp Hall for the benefit of the Tennessee table, at the Confederate Bazaar. Candles, a grab bag, and games will be provided for little people. Refreshments will be of red, white and blue. The tea will be informal and all who wish to go will be heartily welcomed.

The Maryland and Virginia Committee of the Confederate Bazaar will have an entertainment for children this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at Lee Camp Hall.

The entertainment will be particularly interesting and attractive to both boys and girls. There will be a number of exciting games, in which the young folks can compete with each other for prizes. The children are looking forward with unusual pleasure to these games, and it has become known that Mrs. Walker purchased some new ones while in Baltimore last week.

Besides the games, there will be fortune telling, a grab-bag, and a candy table, where the young people can spend their odd pennies.

Refreshments that are tempting to the palate, though not harmful to digestion, will be served.

The time has been fixed for Friday afternoon, so that the entertainment will not interfere with the school work of any of the children. All those who can attend should not miss the opportunity, because, in addition to helping a worthy cause, it will be an occasion of a great deal of enjoyment to the participants.

The Maryland Committee consists of the following: Mrs. John Mesley Walker, chairman; Mrs. Thomas H. Leary, Mrs. Reine Blair, Mrs. E. T. Myers, Mrs. V. W. Morton, Mrs. William E. Evans, Mrs. Osterloh, Mrs. E. A. Hoen, Mrs. Warrington Wise, Mrs. James Patton.

Confederate Fair.

A very full meeting of the ladies connected with the "Confederate Fair," to be given for the benefit of the Home for Needy Confederate Women, March 14th, was held at the residence of Mrs. L. O. Miller, No. 56 East Grace Street, yesterday afternoon. The ladies were very original plans to be carried out during the fair that will be unique and beautiful.

Mrs. J. A. Montague presided, and read

In Lighter Vein!

Many things can be treated in a light and frivolous manner. Good light, however, cannot be treated lightly. Good light enables you to keep good eyesight. It avoids doctors' bills as well as gas bills. We will prescribe for all light troubles free of cost—and sell you the necessary medicine cheap.

We hope before many more months are past to have the mantle of fame cover us on account of our good work in mantels. Ministers and missionaries help people to be good—we come next and offer them every facility to keep clean. "Cleanliness is next to godliness." We have the best assortment of bathroom supplies in the city—this fact won't wash out. See?

a most beautiful and touching letter from the president of the Home, Miss Mary Custer Lee. She enclosed a generous check and stated she was "interesting her friends in behalf of the Home." Mrs. Montague reported a number of forty-five dollars in cash and reported scores of "sofa pillows" for her sofa pillow booth.

The music for the fair will be given by Professor Stein's band and will be of a high order.

The costumes for the "girl soldiers" are being made by a first-class costumer and will be very elaborate and beautiful. Mrs. Montague reported a number of names for life membership, at a fee of ten dollars.

All donations to the fair should be marked "Home for Needy Confederate Women." The money will be used for the benefit of the Home.

A great many private entertainments are being given by the ladies for the benefit of the Home. The ladies feel assured of great success.

The Forget-Me-Not Circle of King's Daughters will give a George Washington birthday party to-day from 4 to 6 P. M. in the home of Mrs. E. W. Moore, No. 204 East Broad Street.

Hatchets will be placed on a cherry tree for prizes by the little people present. The cherries will be rate something in that each one will contain something very nice and extremely unique. The admission fee will entitle each child to compete for prizes, and something nice will be provided for all. Cake and cream will be served.

A children's Mardi Gras entertainment will be given by ladies interested in the Mississippi table. In view of the bride's bazaar, from 3 to 6 o'clock next Monday afternoon, at No. 216 East Franklin Street. Many unexpected surprises in the way of amusement will be provided, and the little people to come are assured of a good time.

Confederate Bazaar.
The Confederate Bazaar Association met yesterday at noon in Lee Camp Hall with Mrs. Stephen Putney presiding. Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, the honorary president of the association, who has been in Washington, was also at the meeting, much to the gratification of association members.

Chairmen of the different tables after making very satisfactory reports, were called on by Mrs. Putney to name some person from their tables to act on an entertainment committee whose duty it shall be to direct some form of entertainment for each evening during the time the Bazaar lasts. Those whose names were given in yesterday were Mrs. J. Taylor Ellyson, by the chairman of the Virginia table, Mrs. Thomas Virginia Leary, Florida, Miss Lillian Taylor; Louisiana, Mrs. Henry Harwood; Mississippi, Miss Bessie Hunter; Texas, Mrs. Adolphus Blair, Kentucky, Mrs. C. C. Walker; Missouri, Miss Roberta Allen, and the Solid South, Miss Isoline Moses.

Through the efforts of Mrs. L. R. Dashiell, "Hostess benefit" has been promised to the Confederate Bazaar Association for March 10th. The Association will meet again at noon next Thursday.

Committees to Meet.

A meeting of the Louisiana Committee is called for to-morrow at 11:30 in No. 60 North Tenth Street.

All persons interested in the Texas table are asked to meet with Mrs. Adolphus Blair, No. 111 North Third Street, this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Alabama Committee is asked to meet at Mrs. J. H. Drake's, No. 1206 Floyd Avenue, Tuesday at noon.

The Tennessee Committee is requested to meet at No. 397 North Twelfth Street at 10 A. M. to-day.

Entertainments.

Miss Anne C. Bentley will be informally "at home" on Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. F. J. Brooke, of Alexandria, will be with Miss Bentley and will unite with her in giving a cordial welcome to friends calling.

The tea given by the Hebrew Memorial Association in Lee Camp Hall Thursday evening for the benefit of the Confederate Bazaar was a success financially and socially. The ladies who were given high prizes by the help given by the Musical Committee, under Mr. Sullivan's direction, for coffee given by the Aragon Company and for assistance furnished by others contributing to the pleasantness of the occasion.

A George Washington tea will be given this evening from 6 to 11, at No. 908 Floyd Avenue, in behalf of domestic missions. Music, recitations and whistling will engage the guests to the limit and will furnish enjoyable program.
